Promises for Book 3 John

The letter of 3 John is addressed to a man named Gaius, whom the author praises for his faithfulness and hospitality towards fellow believers. Here are some key promises and themes from 3 John:

Walking in truth: The author commends Gaius for his faithfulness and for walking in the truth. He promises that those who walk in the truth have a fellowship with the Father and with His Son Jesus Christ (3 John 1:1-8).

Supporting fellow believers: The author encourages Gaius to continue supporting fellow believers, especially those who are traveling and sharing the gospel. He promises that those who support such work are co-workers with the truth (3 John 1:5-8).

Demetrius: The author commends a man named Demetrius, who is also walking in the truth. He promises to speak more about him when he has the opportunity (3 John 1:9-12).

Overall, the promises in 3 John focus on the importance of walking in the truth and supporting fellow believers who are spreading the gospel. The author commends Gaius for his faithfulness and encourages him to continue in his good work, assuring him that he is a co-worker with the truth.
