

No copyright materials are used in this text
The summary and interpretation of the specific chapter and verses are from the Bible, they are religious text that is in the public domain.

Free to Copy and Distribute: Spread the Word!

(Peter Lok) 駱沅祺
lokpeter@outlook.com

Promises for Matthew

God's promises in Bible "Matthew"

In chapter 1 of the Gospel of Matthew, there are several promises that relate to Jesus Christ and his role as the Messiah. Here are a few of the key promises:

Jesus will be born of a virgin (Matthew 1:23) - This is a fulfillment of the prophecy in Isaiah 7:14, which states that a virgin will conceive and bear a son, and he will be called Immanuel.

Jesus will save his people from their sins (Matthew 1:21) - This promise emphasizes the redemptive nature of Jesus' mission on earth. He came to reconcile humanity to God and to offer forgiveness of sins to those who believe in him.

Jesus is the son of Abraham and the son of David (Matthew 1:1) - This promise links Jesus to the lineage of Abraham and David, which were significant figures in Jewish history. It affirms that Jesus is the fulfillment of God's promises to these patriarchs.

Jesus is the Messiah (Matthew 1:16) - This promise declares that Jesus is the long-awaited Messiah who was prophesied to come and save God's people.

Overall, these promises in Matthew 1 set the stage for Jesus' ministry and provide a foundation for understanding his role as the Savior of the world.

In chapter 2 of the Gospel of Matthew, there are a few promises that relate to the birth and early childhood of Jesus Christ. Here are some of the key promises:

The birth of Jesus was a fulfillment of prophecy (Matthew 2:5-6) - The chief priests and scribes informed King Herod that the Messiah was to be born in Bethlehem, as prophesied in Micah 5:2. This promise affirmed that Jesus was the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy.

The wise men would find the Christ child (Matthew 2:1-2) - The Magi from the east were promised that they would find the one who was born King of the Jews. This promise was fulfilled when they followed the star and came to Bethlehem to worship Jesus.

Joseph and Mary were warned in a dream to flee to Egypt (Matthew 2:13) - An angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream and instructed him to take the child and his mother to Egypt to escape the wrath of King Herod. This promise ensured the safety of Jesus and his family.

Jesus would be called a Nazarene (Matthew 2:23) - This promise was a fulfillment of prophecy, although the exact reference is not clear. It affirmed that Jesus would be associated with the town of Nazareth and would grow up there.

Overall, these promises in Matthew 2 underscore the miraculous nature of Jesus' birth and childhood and highlight the fulfillment of prophecy surrounding his arrival.

In chapter 3 of the Gospel of Matthew, the focus shifts to the ministry of John the Baptist and the baptism of Jesus. Here are some of the promises that can be found in this chapter:

John the Baptist would prepare the way for the Lord (Matthew 3:3) - This promise was a fulfillment of the prophecy in Isaiah 40:3, which spoke of a voice crying out in the wilderness to prepare the way of the Lord.

John the Baptist would baptize with water, but Jesus would baptize with the Holy Spirit and fire (Matthew 3:11) - This promise highlights the distinction between John's ministry and that of Jesus. John's baptism was a symbolic act of repentance, while Jesus' baptism would be accompanied by the gift of the Holy Spirit and a purifying fire.

Jesus is the beloved Son of God (Matthew 3:17) - This promise was spoken by a voice from heaven at Jesus' baptism. It affirmed Jesus' identity as the Son of God and indicated God's pleasure in him.

Jesus would fulfill all righteousness (Matthew 3:15) - This promise was spoken by Jesus himself in response to John's reluctance to baptize him. It affirmed Jesus' commitment to fulfilling God's will and obeying his commandments.

Overall, these promises in Matthew 3 set the stage for Jesus' public ministry and underscore his divine identity and mission.

In chapter 4 of the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus begins his public ministry and faces temptation in the wilderness. Here are some of the promises that can be found in this chapter:

Jesus would be led by the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted (Matthew 4:1) - This promise indicates that Jesus' temptation was part of God's plan for his ministry and preparation for his ultimate sacrifice on the cross.

Jesus would resist temptation by relying on God's word (Matthew 4:4, 7, 10) - In each of the three temptations, Jesus responds with a quote from Scripture that affirms his trust in God's faithfulness and provision.

Jesus would begin his ministry in Galilee, fulfilling prophecy (Matthew 4:12-16) - This promise was a fulfillment of the prophecy in Isaiah 9:1-2, which spoke of a great light shining in the darkness of Galilee.

Jesus would preach the gospel of the kingdom and perform miracles (Matthew 4:23-25) - This promise underscores the central focus of Jesus' ministry: proclaiming the good news of God's kingdom and demonstrating its power through miraculous signs and wonders.

Overall, these promises in Matthew 4 highlight the strength and faithfulness of Jesus in the face of temptation and affirm his divine mission to proclaim the gospel of the kingdom and demonstrate God's power.

In chapter 5 of the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus delivers the Sermon on the Mount, which contains many teachings and promises related to the nature of God's kingdom and the blessings that come with living a life of faith. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

The poor in spirit will receive the kingdom of heaven (Matthew 5:3) - This promise affirms that those who recognize their spiritual poverty and dependence on God will inherit the kingdom of heaven.

Those who mourn will be comforted (Matthew 5:4) - This promise offers comfort to those who grieve, assuring them that God will bring comfort and healing to their hearts.

The meek will inherit the earth (Matthew 5:5) - This promise affirms that those who are gentle and humble in spirit will receive the blessings and provisions of God's kingdom.

Those who hunger and thirst for righteousness will be satisfied (Matthew 5:6) - This promise assures that those who seek after God's righteousness and justice will be filled and satisfied.

The merciful will receive mercy (Matthew 5:7) - This promise affirms that those who extend mercy and compassion to others will receive the same in return.

The pure in heart will see God (Matthew 5:8) - This promise affirms that those who have a sincere and undivided heart toward God will have a clear vision of him and his purposes.

The peacemakers will be called children of God (Matthew 5:9) - This promise affirms that those who work to promote peace and reconciliation will be recognized as children of God.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 5 offer comfort, assurance, and hope to those who seek after God and desire to live in accordance with his kingdom principles.

In chapter 6 of the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus continues the Sermon on the Mount and teaches on various topics related to prayer, giving, and trust in God. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Those who give to the needy in secret will be rewarded by God (Matthew 6:4) - This promise affirms that acts of charity and generosity done in humility and sincerity will be recognized and rewarded by God.

Those who pray in secret will be rewarded by God (Matthew 6:6) - This promise affirms that prayers offered in private and with sincerity will be heard and rewarded by God.

Those who forgive others will be forgiven by God (Matthew 6:14-15) - This promise affirms that forgiveness is a central part of God's kingdom and that those who extend forgiveness to others will receive it in return.

Those who seek first God's kingdom and righteousness will have all their needs met (Matthew 6:33) - This promise affirms that when we prioritize seeking God's kingdom and living in accordance with his righteousness, he will provide for all of our needs.

Those who trust in God's provision and do not worry will have peace (Matthew 6:25-34) - This promise affirms that when we trust in God's care and provision for our lives, we can have peace and freedom from worry.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 6 encourage us to live a life of faith and trust in God, knowing that he is faithful to provide for our needs and reward our acts of righteousness and obedience.

In chapter 7 of the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus continues his Sermon on the Mount and teaches on various topics related to judgment, discernment, and the golden rule. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Those who ask, seek, and knock will receive from God (Matthew 7:7-8) - This promise affirms that when we persistently seek after God and his will for our lives, he will respond and provide for us.

Those who treat others with kindness and respect will receive the same in return (Matthew 7:12) - This promise affirms that when we treat others with the same love and kindness that we desire for ourselves, we will receive the same in return.

Those who build their lives on the foundation of Jesus' teachings will withstand the storms of life (Matthew 7:24-25) - This promise affirms that when we build our lives on the solid foundation of Jesus' teachings and live in obedience to his commands, we will be able to withstand the trials and challenges of life.

Those who enter through the narrow gate and walk the narrow path will find life (Matthew 7:13-14) - This promise affirms that the path of following Jesus may be difficult and narrow, but it leads to true life and abundance.

Those who do the will of the Father will enter the kingdom of heaven (Matthew 7:21) - This promise affirms that true faith is demonstrated by obedience to God's will, and that those who obey him will receive the ultimate reward of entering into his kingdom.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 7 challenge us to live a life of faith and obedience, seeking after God and his will, and trusting in his faithfulness to provide for us and guide us along the narrow path that leads to true life.

In chapter 8 of the Gospel of Matthew, we see Jesus performing various miracles, healing the sick, and demonstrating his power over nature and demons. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus has the power to heal all who come to him (Matthew 8:16-17) - This promise affirms that Jesus has the power to heal all physical and spiritual ailments, and that those who come to him in faith will experience his healing touch.

Jesus has the power to calm the storms of life (Matthew 8:23-27) - This promise affirms that Jesus has power over the natural world and can bring peace to the storms of life, both literal and figurative.

Jesus has the power to cast out demons (Matthew 8:28-34) - This promise affirms that Jesus has power over the spiritual realm and can free us from the oppression of demonic forces.

Those who have faith in Jesus will be saved (Matthew 8:10, 13) - This promise affirms that salvation comes through faith in Jesus Christ, and that those who believe in him will be saved.

Jesus has compassion on those who suffer (Matthew 8:2-3, 14-15) - This promise affirms that Jesus cares deeply for those who suffer and is moved with compassion to heal and restore them.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 8 demonstrate Jesus' power, compassion, and willingness to heal and restore all who come to him in faith.

In chapter 9 of the Gospel of Matthew, we see Jesus continuing his ministry of healing and performing miracles. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus has the power to forgive sins (Matthew 9:2-7) - This promise affirms that Jesus has the authority to forgive sins and offers salvation to all who believe in him.

Jesus has compassion on the sick and suffering (Matthew 9:35-36) - This promise affirms that Jesus cares deeply for those who are sick and suffering, and is moved with compassion to heal and restore them.

Those who come to Jesus in faith will be healed (Matthew 9:20-22) - This promise affirms that when we come to Jesus in faith, he has the power to heal us and make us whole.

Jesus has the power to raise the dead (Matthew 9:18, 23-26) - This promise affirms that Jesus has power over death and can bring life even to those who have passed away.

Jesus calls us to follow him and be a part of his mission (Matthew 9:9-13) - This promise affirms that Jesus invites us to be his disciples and participate in his work of spreading the gospel and bringing salvation to all.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 9 demonstrate Jesus' power, compassion, and willingness to heal and restore all who come to him in faith. They also call us to follow him and participate in his mission to bring salvation to the world.

In chapter 10 of the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus sends out his twelve disciples to carry on his ministry. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus gives authority to his disciples to heal and cast out demons (Matthew 10:1) - This promise affirms that Jesus gives power and authority to his followers to continue his work of healing and delivering people from spiritual oppression.

Jesus promises to be with his disciples and protect them (Matthew 10:16-20) - This promise affirms that even though his disciples will face persecution and opposition, Jesus will be with them, and will give them the words to speak in times of trial.

Those who acknowledge Jesus before others will be acknowledged by him before the Father (Matthew 10:32-33) - This promise affirms that those who are faithful to Jesus and proclaim him before others will be acknowledged and rewarded by him in the presence of the Father.

Jesus promises to bring division and conflict, even within families (Matthew 10:34-39) - This promise affirms that following Jesus can be costly and divisive, even among close family members. However, Jesus also promises that those who are willing to give up everything for his sake will find true life.

Jesus promises that those who receive his disciples will receive him, and ultimately receive God's reward (Matthew 10:40-42) - This promise affirms that those who show hospitality and welcome to Jesus' disciples are showing hospitality and welcome to Jesus himself, and will be rewarded by God for their generosity.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 10 demonstrate Jesus' call to discipleship and his promise to be with his followers, even in the midst of opposition and conflict. They also affirm the importance of proclaiming Jesus before others and receiving those who carry on his mission.

In chapter 11 of the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus continues his ministry of preaching and performing miracles, but also faces rejection and unbelief from some. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus invites all who are weary and burdened to come to him and find rest (Matthew 11:28-30) - This promise affirms that Jesus is the source of true rest and refreshment for those who are weary and burdened by life's challenges.

Jesus promises that those who seek him will find him (Matthew 11:12) - This promise affirms that Jesus is accessible and available to all who seek him with an open heart and mind.

Jesus affirms that those who receive his message and believe in him will receive eternal life (Matthew 11:25-26) - This promise affirms that faith in Jesus leads to salvation and eternal life with God.

Jesus promises that he will reveal the Father to those who come to him (Matthew 11:27) - This promise affirms that Jesus is the means by which we come to know God and understand his character.

Jesus warns those who reject him and his message of judgment and condemnation (Matthew 11:20-24) - This promise affirms that there are consequences to rejecting Jesus and his offer of salvation, but also offers a warning to those who are resistant to his message.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 11 emphasize Jesus' call to come to him and find rest, and his promise of salvation and eternal life to those who believe in him. They also warn of the consequences of rejecting Jesus and his message.

In chapter 12 of the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus continues to confront religious leaders who reject his authority and message, while also demonstrating his power through healing and other miracles. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus affirms that mercy is greater than sacrifice (Matthew 12:7) - This promise affirms that God values mercy and compassion over strict adherence to religious rituals and rules.

Jesus promises to continue to cast out demons and heal the sick (Matthew 12:28) - This promise affirms that Jesus has power over the spiritual realm and can deliver people from spiritual oppression and physical ailments.

Jesus warns of the danger of rejecting the Holy Spirit (Matthew 12:31-32) - This warning affirms that rejecting the work of the Holy Spirit is a serious offense, and will not be forgiven.

Jesus promises that his true family are those who do the will of his Father (Matthew 12:50) - This promise affirms that those who are truly part of Jesus' family are those who are obedient to God and his will.

Jesus promises to provide a sign of his identity through his death and resurrection (Matthew 12:39-40) - This promise affirms that Jesus' death and resurrection will be the ultimate proof of his identity as the Son of God and the promised Messiah.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 12 emphasize the power and authority of Jesus, his call to follow and obey God, and the warning of the danger of rejecting the work of the Holy Spirit.

Chapter 13 of the Gospel of Matthew contains several parables that Jesus told to illustrate the kingdom of heaven and its growth. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that the word of God will bear fruit in those who receive it (Matthew 13:23) - This promise affirms that those who receive and understand the message of the kingdom will produce good fruit in their lives.

Jesus promises that the righteous will shine like the sun in the kingdom of their Father (Matthew 13:43) - This promise affirms that those who follow Jesus and live according to his teachings will be rewarded in the kingdom of heaven.

Jesus affirms that the kingdom of heaven will continue to grow and spread throughout the world (Matthew 13:31-32) - This promise affirms that the kingdom of God will continue to expand, despite its small beginnings.

Jesus warns of the reality of judgment for those who reject the message of the kingdom (Matthew 13:41-42) - This warning affirms that those who reject Jesus and his message will face eternal consequences.

Jesus promises that those who have ears to hear will understand and receive the message of the kingdom (Matthew 13:9) - This promise affirms that the message of the kingdom is accessible to all who are willing to listen and receive it.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 13 emphasize the growth and spread of the kingdom of heaven, the reward of the righteous, and the warning of judgment for those who reject Jesus' message.

Chapter 14 of the Gospel of Matthew contains several events in the life of Jesus, including the feeding of the five thousand and Jesus walking on water. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus demonstrates his power to provide for his followers (Matthew 14:13-21) - This promise affirms that Jesus can provide for the physical needs of his followers, even in seemingly impossible situations.

Jesus demonstrates his power over nature by walking on water (Matthew 14:22-33) - This promise affirms that Jesus has power over the forces of nature and can overcome any obstacle.

Jesus promises to be with his followers and comfort them in times of fear (Matthew 14:27) - This promise affirms that Jesus is present with his followers, even in the midst of their fears and doubts.

Jesus demonstrates his power to heal physical ailments (Matthew 14:35-36) - This promise affirms that Jesus can heal physical sickness and disease.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 14 emphasize the power and provision of Jesus, his presence with his followers, and his ability to heal and comfort.

Chapter 15 of the Gospel of Matthew contains several events in the life of Jesus, including his confrontation with the Pharisees and his healing of a Canaanite woman's daughter. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that true worship is not about external rituals, but comes from the heart (Matthew 15:8-9) - This promise affirms that true worship is not about performing external rituals, but about having a sincere heart for God.

Jesus demonstrates his power to heal and restore (Matthew 15:28) - This promise affirms that Jesus has power to heal and restore people, even those who are considered outsiders or unworthy.

Jesus affirms the power of faith to move mountains and bring about healing (Matthew 15:28) - This promise affirms that faith in Jesus has the power to overcome obstacles and bring about miraculous healing.

Jesus promises that those who follow him will not be disappointed (Matthew 15:31) - This promise affirms that those who follow Jesus will experience his provision and blessing in their lives.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 15 emphasize the importance of true worship from the heart, the power of faith to bring about healing, and the provision and blessing of following Jesus.

Chapter 16 of the Gospel of Matthew contains several events in the life of Jesus, including his rebuke of the Pharisees and his prediction of his own death and resurrection. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that those who acknowledge him as the Christ, the Son of the living God, will be blessed (Matthew 16:16-17) - This promise affirms that recognizing Jesus as the Son of God brings blessings and spiritual insight.

Jesus promises that the gates of Hades will not overcome his church (Matthew 16:18) - This promise affirms that the church founded on Jesus will be victorious over all obstacles, including death.

Jesus promises that those who lose their life for his sake will find it (Matthew 16:25) - This promise affirms that those who are willing to give up their own desires and follow Jesus will find true life and fulfillment.

Jesus promises to return in glory and reward each person according to their deeds (Matthew 16:27) - This promise affirms that Jesus will return in power and glory, and will reward those who have followed him faithfully.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 16 emphasize the importance of recognizing Jesus as the Son of God, the victory of his church over all obstacles, the reward of following him, and his ultimate return in glory.

Chapter 17 of the Gospel of Matthew contains the account of the transfiguration of Jesus and his healing of a demon-possessed boy. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that his disciples will see the kingdom of God coming in power (Matthew 17:1-9) - This promise affirms that Jesus will establish his kingdom in power and glory, and that his disciples will witness it.

Jesus demonstrates his power to heal and deliver (Matthew 17:18) - This promise affirms that Jesus has power to heal and deliver people from evil.

Jesus promises that those who have faith as small as a mustard seed can move mountains (Matthew 17:20) - This promise affirms that even a small amount of faith can have a powerful impact.

Jesus promises that he will pay the temple tax for himself and his disciples (Matthew 17:24-27) - This promise affirms that Jesus is the Son of God and is not subject to the same requirements as others.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 17 emphasize the power and glory of the coming kingdom of God, the power of faith, and the provision and sovereignty of Jesus as the Son of God.

Chapter 18 of the Gospel of Matthew contains Jesus' teachings on humility, forgiveness, and dealing with sin within the community of believers. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that those who humble themselves like children will be great in the kingdom of heaven (Matthew 18:4) - This promise affirms that humility is a key characteristic of those who will be great in the kingdom of heaven.

Jesus promises that he will be present with his followers when they gather in his name (Matthew 18:20) - This promise affirms that Jesus is present with his followers when they gather together in his name, providing comfort and guidance.

Jesus promises that forgiveness is a central aspect of life in the kingdom of heaven (Matthew 18:21-22) - This promise affirms that forgiveness is essential for relationships within the community of believers, and that God will forgive us as we forgive others.

Jesus promises that when two or three gather in his name and agree about anything they ask for, it will be done for them by his Father in heaven (Matthew 18:19) - This promise affirms the power of prayer and the importance of community in seeking God's will.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 18 emphasize the importance of humility, forgiveness, and community in the kingdom of heaven, and the power of prayer and God's presence with his followers.

Chapter 19 of the Gospel of Matthew contains Jesus' teachings on marriage, divorce, and wealth. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that those who leave everything to follow him will receive a hundred times as much and eternal life (Matthew 19:29) - This promise affirms that following Jesus may require sacrifice in this life, but that the reward of eternal life is worth it.

Jesus promises that those who become like little children will enter the kingdom of heaven (Matthew 19:14) - This promise affirms the importance of childlike faith and trust in entering the kingdom of heaven.

Jesus promises that those who have left houses, brothers, sisters, father, mother, or children for his sake will receive a hundred times as much and eternal life (Matthew 19:29) - This promise affirms that even if following Jesus requires leaving family and possessions behind, the reward of eternal life is greater.

Jesus promises that what is impossible with man is possible with God (Matthew 19:26) - This promise affirms that even when it seems impossible to follow God's commands or achieve something in our own strength, with God all things are possible.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 19 emphasize the importance of following Jesus with a childlike faith, the rewards of eternal life, and the power of God to make the seemingly impossible possible.

Chapter 20 of the Gospel of Matthew contains the parable of the workers in the vineyard and Jesus' teachings on the last being first and the first being last. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that the last will be first, and the first will be last (Matthew 20:16) - This promise affirms that God's kingdom operates differently than worldly systems of power and success, and that those who are humble and serve others will be exalted in God's sight.

Jesus promises that those who follow him will receive eternal life (Matthew 20:28) - This promise affirms the centrality of Jesus' sacrifice on the cross for the forgiveness of sins and the gift of eternal life.

Jesus promises that those who give up things for his sake will receive a hundred times as much and inherit eternal life (Matthew 19:29, repeated in Matthew 20:16) - This promise affirms that following Jesus may require sacrifice in this life, but that the reward of eternal life and blessings from God far outweigh any loss.

Jesus promises that those who ask in faith will receive what they ask for (Matthew 20:22) - This promise affirms the power of faith and prayer, and encourages believers to trust in God to provide for their needs.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 20 emphasize the importance of humility, service, sacrifice, and faith in following Jesus and receiving eternal life.

Chapter 21 of the Gospel of Matthew contains Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem and his teachings on the religious leaders' hypocrisy and the parable of the two sons. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that those who have faith and do not doubt can move mountains (Matthew 21:21) - This promise affirms the power of faith and trust in God's ability to do the impossible.

Jesus promises that those who believe in him will receive whatever they ask for in prayer (Matthew 21:22) - This promise affirms the importance of prayer and the power of faith in receiving answers to prayer.

Jesus promises that the stone rejected by the builders will become the cornerstone (Matthew 21:42) - This promise affirms Jesus' role as the rejected Savior who would become the foundation of the church and God's kingdom.

Jesus promises that tax collectors and prostitutes will enter the kingdom of God before the religious leaders who do not repent (Matthew 21:31) - This promise affirms that true repentance and humility are necessary for entrance into the kingdom of God, and that even those who are considered the worst sinners can be saved by God's grace.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 21 emphasize the importance of faith, prayer, repentance, and humility in following Jesus and entering the kingdom of God.

Chapter 22 of the Gospel of Matthew contains Jesus' teachings on the parable of the wedding feast, paying taxes to Caesar, and the greatest commandment. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that the kingdom of God is open to all, both good and bad (Matthew 22:10) - This promise affirms that God's grace and love are available to all, regardless of their past or present circumstances.

Jesus promises that those who give to Caesar what is Caesar's and to God what is God's will fulfill their obligations to both (Matthew 22:21) - This promise affirms the importance of honoring both earthly and spiritual authorities and fulfilling one's duties to both.

Jesus promises that the greatest commandment is to love God with all one's heart, soul, and mind, and to love one's neighbor as oneself (Matthew 22:37-40) - This promise affirms the importance of love as the foundation of all moral and spiritual life, and that by loving God and others, we fulfill the law and the prophets.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 22 emphasize the importance of love, grace, and fulfilling our obligations to both earthly and spiritual authorities in following Jesus and entering the kingdom of God.

Chapter 23 of the Gospel of Matthew contains Jesus' teachings on the hypocrisy of the religious leaders, their love of power and status, and their mistreatment of the people. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that those who exalt themselves will be humbled, and those who humble themselves will be exalted (Matthew 23:12) - This promise affirms the importance of humility as a key characteristic of the kingdom of God, and that those who seek power and status will ultimately be brought low.

Jesus promises that the religious leaders will be held accountable for their mistreatment of the people and their refusal to enter the kingdom of God (Matthew 23:13) - This promise affirms the justice of God and his concern for the oppressed, and that those who reject the message of the kingdom will face judgment.

Jesus promises that he longs to gather Jerusalem's inhabitants under his protective wings, but they were not willing to come to him (Matthew 23:37) - This promise affirms Jesus' deep love and concern for all people, and his desire to offer them refuge and salvation, even in the face of their rejection and rebellion.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 23 emphasize the importance of humility, justice, and God's love and concern for all people, as well as the consequences of rejecting the message of the kingdom.

Chapter 24 of the Gospel of Matthew contains Jesus' teachings on the end times and the signs of his second coming. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that he will return to earth (Matthew 24:30) - This promise affirms that Jesus will come back to earth to establish his kingdom and bring justice and peace to the world.

Jesus promises that the gospel will be preached throughout the world (Matthew 24:14) - This promise affirms that the message of the kingdom will be spread to all nations and peoples before the end comes.

Jesus promises that those who endure to the end will be saved (Matthew 24:13) - This promise affirms the importance of faithfulness and perseverance in following Jesus, and that those who remain faithful until the end will receive the reward of eternal life.

Jesus promises that he will gather his elect from the four winds (Matthew 24:31) - This promise affirms that Jesus will gather his followers from all corners of the earth and bring them into his kingdom.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 24 emphasize the certainty of Jesus' return and the importance of faithfulness and perseverance in following him, as well as the universal scope of the message of the kingdom.

Chapter 25 of the Gospel of Matthew contains several parables that Jesus taught to his disciples about the importance of being prepared for his return. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

Jesus promises that he will return at an unexpected time (Matthew 25:13) - This promise emphasizes the importance of being ready for Jesus' return, as it could happen at any moment.

Jesus promises that those who use their talents wisely will be rewarded (Matthew 25:21) - This promise affirms that faithful and responsible use of the gifts and talents that God has given us will be rewarded.

Jesus promises that those who care for the needs of others will be blessed (Matthew 25:34-40) - This promise affirms the importance of loving and caring for others, and promises that those who do so will be blessed and inherit eternal life.

Jesus promises that those who fail to care for others will be punished (Matthew 25:41-46) - This promise affirms that neglecting the needs of others is a serious offense, and that those who do so will face eternal punishment.

Overall, the promises in Matthew 25 emphasize the importance of being prepared for Jesus' return and using our gifts and resources wisely to serve others. They also emphasize the importance of loving and caring for others, and warn of the consequences of neglecting their needs.

Chapter 26 of the Gospel of Matthew contains the account of the Last Supper, Jesus' betrayal by Judas, and his arrest in the Garden of Gethsemane. While this chapter does not contain explicit promises from God, there are several themes and actions that reveal God's character and his plan of salvation. Here are some key points:

Jesus promises to establish a new covenant through his blood (Matthew 26:28) - During the Last Supper, Jesus takes bread and wine and establishes a new covenant with his disciples. He promises that his blood will be poured out for the forgiveness of sins, foreshadowing his upcoming sacrifice on the cross.

Jesus demonstrates his willingness to submit to God's will (Matthew 26:39) - In the Garden of Gethsemane, Jesus prays to his Father, asking for the cup of suffering to be taken from him. However, he ultimately submits to God's will, demonstrating his obedience and trust in God.

Jesus is betrayed by Judas, fulfilling prophecy (Matthew 26:23-25) - The betrayal of Jesus by Judas was prophesied in the Old Testament (Psalm 41:9), and its fulfillment shows that God is in control of all things, even the actions of evil people.

Jesus faces false accusations and persecution (Matthew 26:57-68) - Jesus' trial before the Sanhedrin and his persecution by the Roman soldiers reveal the unjust and corrupt nature of human authorities. However, these events also show that Jesus willingly suffered and endured persecution in order to fulfill God's plan of salvation.

Overall, while there may not be explicit promises in Matthew 26, this chapter reveals God's character of love, justice, and sovereignty, as well as his plan of salvation through the sacrifice of Jesus.

Chapter 27 of the Gospel of Matthew describes the trial, crucifixion, death, and burial of Jesus Christ. This chapter does not contain explicit promises from God, but it reveals his character and his plan of salvation through the sacrifice of Jesus. Here are some key points:

Jesus is falsely accused and rejected by the Jewish leaders (Matthew 27:1-26) - The Jewish leaders accuse Jesus of blasphemy and demand his execution. This shows the sinfulness of human nature, as well as the fulfillment of Old Testament prophecies about the suffering of the Messiah.

Jesus is crucified and dies on the cross (Matthew 27:27-56) - Jesus' crucifixion fulfills the plan of salvation that God had established before the foundation of the world. Jesus willingly suffered and died on the cross to pay the penalty for human sin and to reconcile humanity to God.

Jesus is buried in a tomb (Matthew 27:57-66) - Jesus' burial shows that he truly died and was not merely unconscious or in a coma. It also sets the stage for his resurrection, which is the ultimate proof of his identity as the Son of God.

Overall, while there may not be explicit promises in Matthew 27, this chapter reveals God's character of love, justice, and mercy, as well as his plan of salvation through the sacrifice of Jesus. It shows that God is willing to go to great lengths to reconcile humanity to himself and to offer forgiveness and salvation to all who believe in Jesus Christ.

Chapter 28 of the Gospel of Matthew records the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, which is a key promise and event in Christianity. Here are some of the promises found in this chapter:

The promise of Jesus' resurrection (Matthew 28:1-10) - The chapter begins with the account of the women going to Jesus' tomb early in the morning and finding it empty. An angel tells them that Jesus has risen from the dead, just as he said he would. This fulfills Jesus' promise that he would rise again after three days (Matthew 16:21; 17:23; 20:19).

The promise of Jesus' appearance to his disciples (Matthew 28:11-15) - The Jewish leaders spread false rumors that the disciples had stolen Jesus' body from the tomb. This shows the fulfillment of the Old Testament prophecies that Jesus would be rejected and opposed by the religious leaders. However, the disciples did see Jesus after his resurrection, and he appeared to them multiple times, which was a promise he had made to them (Matthew 26:32; 28:7, 10).

The promise of Jesus' authority and presence (Matthew 28:16-20) - Jesus appears to his disciples on a mountain in Galilee and gives them the Great Commission, telling them to make disciples of all nations and baptize them in the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. He promises to be with them always, even to the end of the age. This promise emphasizes Jesus' authority over all things and his continued presence with his followers through the Holy Spirit (Acts 1:8).

Overall, chapter 28 of Matthew emphasizes the fulfillment of God's promises through the resurrection of Jesus, his appearances to his disciples, and his ongoing authority and presence with his followers. It emphasizes the hope and assurance that come from the reality of Jesus' resurrection and his promise to be with us always.