Matthew 24:42-44:

"Therefore, be on the alert, for you do not know when your lord will come. If the lord of the house knows when a thief will come, he will be on the alert, and will not allow the house to be dug through; this is what you know. Therefore, you also Be ready, for the Son of Man is coming when you least expect it."

Matthew 25:13:

"Therefore, be on the alert, for you do not know the day or the hour."

Ephesians 5:15-16:

"Be heedful, and walk not as fools, but as wise. Take your time, for these days are evil."

These verses remind us to be vigilant and prepare for the day of Jesus' return, which is unpredictable. We are encouraged to walk cautiously, not to be troubled by worldly deceptions, but to concentrate on waiting for the Lord's return.

Oh God,

When we evangelize, we often hear people's response is "later".

Or why do I need to trust God and or I'm well-behaved and honest?

They are arrogant and stubborn, but this attitude is self-destructive.

Lord, we should humbly submit to your will, lest we suffer the consequences ourselves.

Enduring patience and forgiveness, you long for people to come back to you and give them a chance.

We must fight against evil and stand on the side of justice.

At the same time, we have to remind ourselves that arrogance and stubbornness are self-destructive,

We should humbly submit to Your will.

Your long patience is also an important lesson, and your willingness to give people the opportunity to repent and change.

Time is running out, Lord, we look forward to the return of Jesus.

However, when Jesus returns, the start of the judgment may be delayed.

But this does not mean that we can take it lightly, we must always be vigilant.

Lord, give us firm faith,

Let us persevere unhindered in our evangelization.

Help us submit to Your will in humility so that we do not fall into self-destructive situations.

Fortify us against evil and lead us on the side of good.

Lord, we thank you for your long patience and forgiveness,

May each of us turn back to you and accept your opportunity to repent and change.

In the name of Jesus Christ we pray, Amen.

Exodus chapter 7

Ex. 7:1 Then the LORD said to Moses, "See, I have made you like God to Pharaoh, and your brother Aaron will be your prophet.

Ex. 7:2 You are to say everything I command you, and your brother Aaron is to tell Pharaoh to let the Israelites go out of his country.

Ex. 7:3 But I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and though I multiply my miraculous signs and wonders in Egypt,

Ex. 7:4 he will not listen to you. Then I will lay my hand on Egypt and with mighty acts of judgment I will bring out my divisions, my people the Israelites.

Ex. 7:5 And the Egyptians will know that I am the LORD when I stretch out my hand against Egypt and bring the Israelites out of it.”

Ex. 7:6 Moses and Aaron did just as the LORD commanded them.

Ex. 7:7 Moses was eighty years old and Aaron eighty-three when they spoke to Pharaoh.

Ex. 7:8 The LORD said to Moses and Aaron,

Ex. 7:9 “When Pharaoh says to you, ‘Perform a miracle,’ then say to Aaron, ‘Take your staff and throw it down before Pharaoh,’ and it will become a snake.”

Ex. 7:10 So Moses and Aaron went to Pharaoh and did just as the LORD commanded. Aaron threw his staff down in front of Pharaoh and his officials, and it became a snake.

Ex. 7:11 Pharaoh then summoned the wise men and sorcerers, and the Egyptian magicians also did the same things by their secret arts:

Ex. 7:12 Each one threw down his staff and it became a snake. But Aaron’s staff swallowed up their staffs.

Ex. 7:13 Yet Pharaoh’s heart became hard and he would not listen to them, just as the LORD had said.

Ex. 7:14 Then the LORD said to Moses, “Pharaoh’s heart is unyielding; he refuses to let the people go.

Ex. 7:15 Go to Pharaoh in the morning as he goes out to the water. Wait on the bank of the Nile to meet him, and take in your hand the staff that was changed into a snake.

Ex. 7:16 Then say to him, ‘The LORD, the God of the Hebrews, has sent me to say to you: Let my people go, so that they may worship me in the desert. But until now you have not listened.

Ex. 7:17 This is what the LORD says: By this you will know that I am the LORD: With the staff that is in my hand I will strike the water of the Nile, and it will be changed into blood.

Ex. 7:18 The fish in the Nile will die, and the river will stink; the Egyptians will not be able to drink its water.”

Ex. 7:19 The LORD said to Moses, “Tell Aaron, ‘Take your staff and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt — over the streams and canals, over the ponds and all the reservoirs’ — and they will turn to blood. Blood will be everywhere in Egypt, even in the wooden buckets and stone jars.”

Ex. 7:20 Moses and Aaron did just as the LORD had commanded. He raised his staff in the presence of Pharaoh and his officials and struck the water of the Nile, and all the water was changed into blood.

Ex. 7:21 The fish in the Nile died, and the river smelled so bad that the Egyptians could not drink its water. Blood was everywhere in Egypt.

Ex. 7:22 But the Egyptian magicians did the same things by their secret arts, and Pharaoh’s heart became hard; he would not listen to Moses and Aaron, just as the LORD had said.

Ex. 7:23 Instead, he turned and went into his palace, and did not take even this to heart.

Ex. 7:24 And all the Egyptians dug along the Nile to get drinking water, because they could not drink the water of the river.

Ex. 7:25 Seven days passed after the LORD struck the Nile.

Chapter 7 of Exodus

Chapter 7 of Exodus in the Bible begins with God telling Moses that He will harden Pharaoh's heart so that he will not let the Israelites go, but will instead face a series of plagues that will demonstrate God's power.

Moses and Aaron then go before Pharaoh and perform a miracle in which Aaron's staff turns into a serpent. However, Pharaoh's magicians are able to replicate the miracle, leading Pharaoh to dismiss Moses and Aaron's request to let the Israelites go.

God then sends a series of plagues upon Egypt, beginning with turning the Nile River into blood. Despite this, Pharaoh's heart remains hardened and he refuses to let the Israelites go. God then sends a plague of frogs, followed by gnats and then flies, but Pharaoh still refuses to release the Israelites.

The chapter ends with the announcement of the fourth plague, in which God will send a swarm of insects to torment the Egyptians.

The key verses Chapter 7 of Exodus in the Bible

Exodus chapter 7 continues the story of Moses and Aaron's confrontation with Pharaoh in their effort to free the Israelites from slavery in Egypt. Here are some key verses from Exodus chapter 7:

1. "Then the Lord said to Moses, 'See, I have made you like God to Pharaoh, and your brother Aaron will be your prophet'" (Exodus 7:1): This verse shows how God appoints Moses and Aaron to speak on his behalf and perform miracles to convince Pharaoh to release the Israelites.
2. "But Pharaoh's heart was hard and he would not listen, just as the Lord had said" (Exodus 7:13): This verse shows how Pharaoh remains stubborn and refuses to release the Israelites, despite the signs and wonders that Moses and Aaron perform.
3. "The Nile will teem with frogs. They will come up into your palace and your bedroom and onto your bed, into the houses of your officials and on your people, and into your ovens and kneading troughs" (Exodus 7:28): This verse shows how God sends a plague of frogs upon Egypt to punish Pharaoh for his disobedience.
4. "But the magicians did the same things by their secret arts; they also made frogs come up on the land of Egypt" (Exodus 7:22): This verse shows how Pharaoh's magicians are able to replicate some of the miracles performed by Moses and Aaron, but their power is ultimately limited compared to that of God.
5. "And when Pharaoh saw that there was relief, he hardened his heart and would not listen to Moses and Aaron, just as the Lord had said" (Exodus 7:13): This verse shows how Pharaoh's heart becomes even more hardened in the face of the plagues, making it increasingly difficult for Moses and Aaron to persuade him to release the Israelites.

Here's a reflection on Exodus chapter 7:

Exodus chapter 7 marks the beginning of the showdown between Moses, Aaron, and Pharaoh as God's judgment is unleashed upon Egypt. In this chapter, Moses and Aaron confront Pharaoh, and God demonstrates His power through various miracles and signs.

One of the central themes in this chapter is the sovereignty and supremacy of God over all earthly powers. As Moses and Aaron stand before Pharaoh, God assures them of His authority and makes it clear that Pharaoh will not willingly let the Israelites go. God declares that He will multiply His signs and wonders in Egypt to bring about the release of His people and to demonstrate His power to both the Egyptians and the Israelites.

Throughout this chapter, God displays His power through the miracles of turning Aaron's staff into a serpent, the transformation of the Nile River into blood, and the infestation of Egypt with frogs. These miraculous signs serve as both judgments against the false gods of Egypt and proofs of God's power and authority. They highlight the fact that God is in control and can override the natural order of things.

Another important theme in this chapter is the hardening of Pharaoh's heart. Despite witnessing the supernatural signs and experiencing the initial consequences, Pharaoh refuses to acknowledge God's authority and continues to resist the release of the Israelites. This hardening of Pharaoh's heart sets the stage for the subsequent plagues and escalates the conflict between Pharaoh and God.

Reflecting on Exodus chapter 7, we can draw several lessons for our own lives. Firstly, it reminds us of the sovereignty and power of God over all earthly powers. No human ruler or authority can stand against God when He purposes to accomplish His will. It encourages us to trust in God's ultimate authority and to recognize that His plans will prevail despite any opposition or resistance we may face.

Secondly, this chapter teaches us about the consequences of hardening our hearts against God's word and will. Pharaoh's stubbornness and refusal to submit to God's authority led to the intensification of God's judgments upon Egypt. It serves as a cautionary reminder for us to remain open and receptive to God's guidance and to be willing to respond to His calling in our lives.

Furthermore, Exodus chapter 7 highlights the power of God's signs and wonders. The miracles performed by Moses and Aaron were not mere displays of supernatural power but were meant to convey a deeper message. They demonstrated God's ability to bring about both judgment and deliverance, and they served as an invitation for the Egyptians and even Pharaoh to acknowledge and turn to the one true God.

In conclusion, Exodus chapter 7 reveals the sovereignty and power of God as He confronts Pharaoh and demonstrates His authority through miraculous signs. It reminds us of God's supremacy over earthly powers, the consequences of hardening our hearts, and the significance of God's signs and wonders. By reflecting on these lessons, we can cultivate a deeper trust in God's authority, openness to His guidance, and a willingness to respond to His calling in our lives.
